

The Andaman Islands

65. A steatopygous Andamanese mother.

The Sentinelese of the Andaman Islands

The Sentinelese is the last human tribe to be completely isolated from civilization... up to this day. They are truly fascinating folk confined in an island of the Indian Ocean. They still haven't learned to make fire and their language has never been decoded. Although they have some rudimentary canoes, they are far from being seasoned seafarers and how they wended up on Andaman adds a shroud of mystery to their already obscure origins. It is however likely that they are key actors in the age-old saga of the human colonization of Australasia.

Bushmanchild,CKGR,Botswana200"

Bushman child, CKGR, Botswana 2004

XoroxlooDuxeediedofdehydrationaftertheBushmen'swaterboreholewasdisabled."

2004 Stephen Corry/Survival